CALIFORNIA PRISON RIOTERS GIVEN SOLITARY CONFINEMENT

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Seven white and four Negro prisoners were sent to solitary confinement Tuesday for 29 days for taking part in a dining hall race riot last week at nearby Folsom Prison.

The 11 sent to solitary were found guilty of pushing, throwing food trays and promoting work stoppages.

Prison officials said rioting started after whites objected to sitting next to Negroes.

IN LEGISLATURE

Rough Passage For Gas Bill

VICTORIA (CP) — A controversial Social Credit government bill which would increase the price of gasoline three cents a gallon continued its stormy way through the British Columbia legislature Tuesday.

The bill was given second reading by the narrowest vote in the House in several years—29 to 21.

Douk Worry 'Unsolved'

VICTORIA (CP) — The government does not regard the Doukhobor problems of the West Kootenays as being solved, Attorney-General Robert Bonner said Tuesday night.

However, he told the British Columbia legislature, if the present results and conditions are maintained for a decade, "it may be concluded that the problem is reasonably settled."

He made the remarks in reply to an assertion by Randolph Harding (CCF—Kaslo-Slocan) that since the government was allocating no money under Doukhobor Affairs Vote, which last year provided $75,000, it must consider the problem settled.

Mr. Bonner said the matter now seems substantially improved over what it was five years ago. He gave much of the credit for this improvement to the Magistrate William Evans of Nelson, who has worked closely with both Orthodox and Radical Sons of Freedom Doukhobors in the region, and to the non-Doukhobor residents of the area.

Magistrate Evans, a key figure in getting the Doukhobor parents to send their children to regular public schools and to regular public schools, had attained the rare position of enjoying the confidence of the Doukhobors.

His influence had been effective in finding solutions to many problems.

The attitude of the residents in accepting the Doukhobor as a part of the community and in encouraging the Doukhobor to take part in community responsibilities had helped considerably too, he said.

Visit Extended

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Macmillan will extend his originally scheduled one-day Ottawa visit next month to three full days, Acting Prime Minister Green announced today.

Mr. Green said Mr. Macmillan's program was altered as a result of conversations in London with Prime Minister Diefenbaker.

The British prime minister and Lady Dorothy Macmillan now will arrive in Ottawa late Saturday, April 8, after a visit to Washington, and leave here Wednesday morning, April 12, for their original itinerary called for arrival April 7 and departure the next day.

They will be guests of Governor-General and Mme. Vanier.

Animosities May Delay New Assembly Session

Challenge On Debate Items Expected To Lengthen Stay

By JOSEPH MACSWEEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. — Diplomats entered the second day of the re-opened 15th General Assembly today with the conviction that—if nothing else—animosities will cause them to linger here awhile.

Everyone wants the resumed session to be brief. But the challenge of what items should be eliminated from the debate will itself be enough to keep discussion alive in the big glass house beside New York's East River.

Wallace B. Nesbitt, vice-chairman of the Canadian delegation and parliamentary assistant to External Affairs Minister Howard Green, put it this way: "This is corridor week"—meaning that it is a time for private negotiation among delegations.

Nesbitt said Canada still regards disarmament and The Congo problem as the main worries confronting the general assembly, which resumed yesterday after an 11-week recess. He said, however, that it is early yet to predict the session's outcome.

Nesbitt is hopeful that the agenda's cold war items—which could keep the assembly going indefinitely—can be deferred despite an unencouraging start by the great powers.

While President Nkrumah of Ghana elaborated on his peace plan for The Congo at the initial meeting of the resumed session Tuesday, the delegates' attention was also drawn to U.S. Soviet actions.

U.S. Ambassador Adlai Stevenson said his country "would be glad to see the agenda cut to the bone, deferring all but the few items that are essential to the conduct of the business of the United Nations such as the financing of The Congo operation."

Both Russia and the U.S. disavowed any intention of making swaps—that is, neither would think of agreeing to dropping unpopular issues on a "trade" basis.

Nkrumah's formal proposal for a "primarily African" solution to the Congo problem did not dismay Western diplomats—at least not Canadian diplomats—in that he recognized the need for help from "Asia and elsewhere."

The 51-year-old Ghana president, regarded in some circles as a candidate for all-African leadership, did not join in the Soviet attack on Hammarskjöld although he severely criticized the UN operation in The Congo.

Nkrumah said cold-war elements should be kept out of The Congo. He said the NATO allies and the Soviet bloc were guilty of interference.

Withdrawal Asked of UN

TANANARIVE (AP) — President Moïse Tshombe of The Congo's breakaway Katanga province opened a roundtable conference of Congolese political leaders today with a proposal that they demand the withdrawal of United Nations forces from The Congo.

"With the new military pacts between the different states we are in a position to maintain order in the whole Congo," said Tshombe, who last week joined in a military alliance with the governments of President Joseph Kasavubu in Leopoldville and Albert Kalonji in southern Kasal province.

Tshombe also asked the leaders from other provinces of the chaos-ridden country to join him in a resolution proclaiming a common front against the UN Security Council's latest Congo resolution.

Business in Kelowna may be having the best year in history but no one can prove it.

Bank clearings, a check on the state of the city's economic health, show an apparently dramatic decline of 1.3 million dollars from February, 1960 to February this year. Previously $3,274,803.35 was handled by Kelowna clearing houses, while this year the monthly figure stood at $3,918,992.46.

The difference, possibly more, is being handled in Vancouver as the result of a 1960 decision to clear cheques drawn on outside banks at the coast.

As a result, part of Kelowna's business is now being credited to Vancouver. Unhappily there is no way of checking on the amount.

The Senate foreign relations committee must first approve the treaty before it can be sent to the Senate floor. Udall was urging fast approval.

Udall said the treaty will put an end to the possibility that Canada might at some time divert the upper Columbia River into the Fraser River. Such a move, he said, "could have resulted in disastrous power losses in the United States estimated by the Corps of Engineers to be in excess of $50,000,000 annually."

The development project "has the full support of both parties in this country and is an outstanding demonstration in international co-operation," Udall said.

The 60-year treaty, product of months of negotiations, must be ratified by the Canadian Parliament and U.S. Senate before it becomes effective. Diefenbaker has described the treaty as one of "the great joint achievements of the 20th century."

Under the pact, British Columbia will receive one-half the electrical power produced in the United States from three big dams to be built in British Columbia. The initial Canadian investment will be about $450,000,000 but eventually the investment might run to $1,500,000,000.

Doctors said that for the first time since the 29-year-old movie star was stricken four days ago she was "sufficiently conscious to be able to assist in her own treatment."

A medical bulletin this morning said her "condition is greatly improved and given less cause for anxiety."

The actress made an amazing comeback during the night from the brink of death.

Until Tuesday Miss Taylor was in a coma much of the time.

YANKS, KOREANS TRADE PUNCHES

PANMUNJOM (AP) — United States and Communist North Korean soldiers traded punches outside a Korean armistice commission meeting today while generals sparred with words on the inside.

The lone casualty was Capt. William C. Lyons of Lubbock, Tex., whose lip was split. Bystanders gave this account of the fracas:

An American military policeman tried to trip a North Korean guard, and the North Koreans slapped the American.

Lyons, in charge of the United States military police detachment, and several of his men were investigating the slapping when several North Koreans closed in.

Testimonial Dinner Set In Honor Of Premier

Premier W. A. C. Bennett will be honored by his fellow townsmen on Tuesday, April 4, at a testimonial dinner.

The dinner will be given him in recognition of his public service and in appreciation of his obvious interest in the welfare of the interior of this province.

The dinner will be sponsored by the City of Kelowna and the Chamber of Commerce. The general public will have an opportunity to attend, however, it is possible that representatives of neighboring Okanagan cities will be invited.

Mr. Bennett is already a freeman of the city, but it had been felt for some time that some recognition should be given him for his keen interest in the provincial constituency he represents, and his active support in furthering the interests of the whole interior of the province.

Mr. Bennett has been active in the Okanagan's business life for some thirty years. In 1937 and 1938, he was president of the Kelowna Board of Trade, and was one of the mainstays in 1938 in persuading the then government to improve the then ferry service.

He has represented South Okanagan in the Legislature since the early forties, and became Premier in 1951.

Mayor R. F. Parkinson, in announcing the testimonial dinner, stated that Mr. Bennett had been an excellent representative of the district and had contributed much to the whole Okanagan and that many persons felt that some public testimonial of the regard of the area should be tendered to him.

'Bloodshed' Fear
VANCOUVER (CP) — The Speaker of the legislature was quoted Tuesday night as saying fear of bloodshed is the reason he did not permit a special debate on unemployment while jobless men paraded outside.

Paddy Neale, secretary of the Vancouver Labor Council, quoted Hugh Shantz as saying he had it from reliable sources that the jobless were out of hand and there was a danger of blood being spilled.

The Speaker Monday ruled out of order a Liberal-CCF request for a special debate on unemployment.

MOROCCAN TROOPS LEAVE

U.N. Setback in Congo

LEOPOLDVILLE (AP) — The United Nations Congo command's bargaining position suffered a setback—at least temporarily—today with the announcement that 800 Moroccan troops previously scheduled for transfer to Leopoldville will be flown home instead.

The UN had announced Tuesday that the Moroccans were flown from Katanga province, and observers believed their arrival would strengthen the UN command's demand to return troops to Matadi.

But today a UN spokesman said there had been a change of orders and the Moroccans would be flown direct to Morocco as soon as aircraft could be found. The Moroccans had been recalled home previously as a demonstration of the Moroccan government's displeasure with the UN refusal to recognize the Stanleyville regime of Antoine Gizenga as The Congo's legal government.

TUNISIANS ARRIVE
Six hundred Tunisian soldiers did arrive in Leopoldville on schedule to reinforce the local UN garrison. The first of 3,000 Moroccan troops are due next week. But 400 Sudanese troops who bore the brunt of Congolese army attacks in the ports of Matadi and Banana last week are being called home.

The Congolese government today presented a five-point ultimatum to Rajeshwar Dayal, Indian head of the UN Congo operation, and said it must be fulfilled before UN troops can return to Matadi, the chief supply port from which the UN Sudanese garrison was expelled Sunday.

The UN was considered certain to reject the Congolese demands, which were:

1. Dayal must be recalled and replaced by an "impartial" UN official.
2. The Congolese must control the flights of all UN aircraft in The Congo and all river traffic.
3. The United Nations must hand over all strategic bases to the Congolese.
4. The UN must stage no more armed parades in Leopoldville.
5. Dayal must officially retract his "lying statements" that the Congolese fired first at Matadi and Banana.

Columbia River Project 'Co-operation Example'

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON (CP) — Interior Secretary Stewart Udall said today the Columbia River project will bring huge blocks of low-cost power to both Canada and the United States and will show the world the benefits that can be achieved through international co-operation.

In testimony before the Senate foreign relations committee, Udall said President Kennedy and his cabinet fully approved of the Canada-U.S. treaty to join in harnessing the Columbia River. The treaty was signed Jan. 17 by former president Eisenhower and Prime Minister Diefenbaker.

The development project "has the full support of both parties in this country and is an outstanding demonstration in international co-operation," Udall said.

The 60-year treaty, product of months of negotiations, must be ratified by the Canadian Parliament and U.S. Senate before it becomes effective. Diefenbaker has described the treaty as one of "the great joint achievements of the 20th century."

Under the pact, British Columbia will receive one-half the electrical power produced in the United States from three big dams to be built in British Columbia. The initial Canadian investment will be about $450,000,000 but eventually the investment might run to $1,500,000,000.

Centenarian Dedicated His Life To Enderby

By MRS. BOBBIE STAHL
Courier Correspondent

ENDERBY—A century has passed since the birth of Mr. Graham Rosoman in London, England, on March 6, 1861.

As a young man, Mr. Rosoman began a career with the public service, but was forced to discontinue this work and sail to Canada. He came to Enderby in the hopes that the climate would restore his health.

Today, looking back to the scene of Mr. Rosoman's arrival, we marvel that at the time it was absolutely doubtful that he would ever reach here alive.

Mr. Rosoman held a position as the city's first clerk from incorporation in 1905 to the end of August, 1939, when he accepted the position of city supervisor. At this time, his daughter, Miss Hazel Rosoman, became city clerk. Other offices held by Mr. Rosoman were: city collector and city treasurer, police magistrate, from Jan. 1, 1907, to Nov. 30, 1944. He was also stipendiary magistrate for the County of Yale.

On April 10, 1948, Mr. Rosoman attended his one-thousandth consecutive meeting of the council, and for this amazing feat he was awarded an engraved medal by Lord Alexander of Tunis, then governor-general. Lord Alexander made an official visit close to the time Mr. Rosoman attended the one-thousandth meeting, without missing one. After this, he continued to regularly attend, although later this became less frequent.

In 1952, he was made the first freeman of the city and, at the anniversary meeting of the city council March 1, 1955, he was presented by the council with a civic medal in honor of his long public service. Mr. Rosoman lives with his daughter, who is now retired from her position as city clerk.

Unhindered by age, Mr. Rosoman lives on through time; a picture of health. He credits the sunny weather of the Okanagan Valley for this.

Miss Rosoman, at the time of her retirement Jan. 1, 1958, said: "It is probably difficult for a good many people to understand the devotion which my father has felt, and still feels, for this little city and its administration—a devotion which I have shared."

"My father started our city office 52 years ago with nothing but our charter of incorporation, a minute book, and pen and pencil. From this beginning, the City of Enderby grew. Six years later, I started to help my father. The work of our city and pleasure we felt in its advancement, not forgetting the intensely difficult years of the depression, when only our faith brought us through, has been our life. Father's for 52 years, and mine for 46."

Architects For Future Design

ENDERBY (Staff)—Elmer Roberts, chairman of Vernon Winter Carnival coronation and ice palace committees, has suggested that future ice palaces be designed by a group of Vernon architects.

This year's structure was designed by Drew Allan.

Construction of the 1961 ice palace was turned over to the city by chairman George Melvin, and the task subsequently supervised by city engineer Dave Mackay, with Cecil Rivett and a city crew, headed by Harry Haines.

Mr. Roberts has recommended that construction of future ice palaces be commenced no later than four days previous to its being used; and that the location could not be improved upon. He also suggested that a set of portable bleachers be secured to facilitate adequate seating arrangements.

It is interesting to learn from Mr. Roberts the whole structure was washed down with warm water to produce a glazed effect.

Lighting was handled by R. T. Collins.

A native of New Zealand, and a graduate of the University of New Zealand, Mr. Holland did graduate work at Cambridge university and became research director of the Institute of Pacific Relations from 1933 to 1944.

In 1945, he was director of the U.S. Office of War Information at Chungking, China and, from 1946 to 1960, he served as secretary-general of the Institute of Pacific Relations. Since 1954, Mr. Holland has been editor of two publications on Asian affairs: Pacific Affairs, and Far Eastern Survey.

He was appointed to his present position at UBC in January, this year.

FOR VERNON

Better Carnival Sought in Future

VERNON (Staff)—Winter is the 1962 Western Canadian championships and, failing the latter, some lesser but still important meet. However, Victor Harwood felt that Vernon should content itself with the Okanagan Zone alpine championships and during the carnival, various committees have come up with some recommendations.

These will be brought up at a public meeting, called by the Winter Carnival Association, shortly. Upon the framework of these recommendations will be laid the foundation of more and even better carnivals.

Dr. E. M. Stevenson, chairman of the Carnival Skiing committee, and also chairman of Vernon Recreation Commission, has recommended that "an extraordinary token of appreciation and gratitude be sent to the Rev. A. H. Sovereign," for what Dr. Stevenson termed in his report: "The Bishop's magnificent verbal, spiritual and, especially, physical contribution to Vernon Winter Carnival, 1961."

Bishop Sovereign dedicated a ski jump to the memory of the late James Mutrie, a pioneer resident, who saw the potential in Silver Star of an all-year playground.

Lorne Shockey, with 20 points, and Gary Weglitter, gathering 18, proved to be Vernon's only noteworthy showing in the Hub City.

The combination of Terry Scinski and Brian Hoffer for Mount Lolo could not be stopped as Scinski let loose with a barrage of long, drifting shots which put the Vernon offense in trouble all night. When Scinski was not shooting, little 5' Hoffer went in around the Vernon defence and made his jump shots and layups like child's play.

The Americans seemed to relish the win. As the points accumulated, their spirit increased.

Basketball to them is as hockey is to Canadians, and some of the Vernon squad members suggested they play an exhibition of their game with the Northern squad, and thus change the idea that the Canucks were less superior in sports.

Three of the jumpers who used it during the carnival will go to Ottawa March 11 and 12 to compete in the O'Keefe tournament of jumping champions. If successful, they may go to Europe next year, with a coach for two months of training in preparation for the 1963 Winter Olympics. Dr. Stevenson recommends that the progress of these jumpers be watched with a view to being able to say that they got their start in the 1961 Winter Carnival.

Dr. Stevenson states it is important that a ski meet, a major one if possible and certainly a sanctioned meet, be on the program of every future Vernon Winter Carnival. To become host of a sanctioned ski competition, there must be the acis of a ski club in good standing with the Canadian Amateur Ski Association. Further, a sanctioned ski meet must be applied for at the spring meeting of the C.A.S.A., divisional or national.

ARMSTRONG (Correspondent)—A special meeting of Local 202, Farmers' Union, will be held in the parish hall, Armstrong at 8 p.m. on Friday.

Provincial president A. R. Reusch will be guest speaker. Mr. Reusch will report on several meetings held to present farmers' problems to government.

He presented a brief on behalf of the provincial Farmers' Union to the provincial cabinet in Victoria Feb. 9. From Feb. 13 to 18 he was in Ottawa when, along with other members of the National Farmers' Union, he met the prime minister and cabinet, and with the standing committee on agriculture.

He also attended a meeting with the Liberal M.P.s, chaired by Lester Pearson, meetings with C.C.P. members of parliament, and with the Federation of Labor.

An invitation has been extended to other locals in the Valley to attend the meeting in Armstrong, when the question of forming one large local in the district, to replace several small ones, will again be discussed.

Skating Rink Plan For Silver Star

VERNON (Staff)—Harvey Gee, chairman of the Vernon Winter Carnival Society Family Day Committee, has recommended that a large skating rink be constructed on Silver Star for future Family Days, as well as skating and tobogganing. Unfortunately the weatherman did not co-operate this year, and Family Day, which had been scheduled as a climax to the carnival on Feb. 5, was not held. The group had a large program planned in which a whole family could participate—on the Fish and Game Club grounds on the Commonage Road.

Wide Ranging Themes Of Essays By Students

Today the Courier publishes the third selection in Education Week series of essays by Kelowna and District students. Themes today range from nocturnal beauty and the dream world of the land of nod, to a sharp, practical assessment of schooling long ago. All give an insight into the youthful mind and illustrate the dawning imagination of a child under skillful teachers. All are further evidence of this Education Week's slogan; Education Shapes Canada's future.

A Winter Scene

By JENNY UEDA
Dr. Knox, Div. I

Last night about ten minutes to midnight, I woke to find a soft, velvety coat of snow covering the ground, white beautiful crystal-like flakes fell in a continuous swirl. I pushed aside the curtains on my window as I squirmed out of my bed covers to get a closer look. Everywhere I looked, I saw an unending blanket of white. Contrasting this whiteness, the blue-black sky held thousands of diamonds and a winking old moon. The light of a solitary lamp post shone on the snow, casting enchanting shadows all around. Just then, a gust of wind came from the north. The trees swayed in its force and their shadows moved in graceful motion. Some of the snow flakes flew by my window. As the wind subsided, everything became peacefully quiet again. Shortly after I noticed something very strange. A jovial snowman with a top hat, muffer and cane appeared beneath my window. I rubbed my eyes in amazement, then I wiped the window to see if he would disappear. He did not. He stood there with a grin from ear to ear and occasionally looked at me. I smiled back, wondering if I was possessing just a dream.

all my faculties. Then to further my shock and surprise, several little elves, snowmen, and fairy-like creatures appeared. Again, I rubbed my eyes and the window. Yet they remained. A faint sound came to me, listening as hard as I could, I heard the distant music of many violins. The little creatures on the snow began dancing. It was almost like a ballet in miniature. It was so marvellous, I wanted to press my nose against the window and get a better view. I began moving my legs slowly to the side of the bed so that I could sit down on the floor right beside the window. Suddenly, the blankets and sheets tangled among my legs and their weight pulled me right off the bed. With a hush I landed in a heap. When I managed to untangle myself, I looked out of the window. Nowhere could I see the little creatures or the snowman. My eyes searched everywhere. Slowly, I crawled back into bed. Although I lay there for a few minutes thinking, I soon fell asleep. After a night of sound sleep, I awoke at a very early hour. Again I looked for my snow friends, and again I could not see them. But I am happy to have witnessed such a lovely winter scene, although I don't know if it was real or if it was just a dream.

Once there was a boy named Eric. He lived in Newfoundland. When he was three years old a bee stung him in the eye. Ever since he had been blind in one eye. Now he wanted to pay that bee back. One day he saw a bee's nest. Ha! he thought to himself. Now I will be able to pay that bee back. So he got a stick and poked the nest. All of a sudden the bees came flying out. One bee stung the eye that he could see out of. He had to go to the hospital. In a week the doctor found that he was blind in both eyes.

Skiing In Kelowna

SUSAN PICKERING
Grade 6, Central Elementary

Skiing is a very enjoyable sport but only if you are equipped properly. To ski on any mountains near Kelowna you must have safety straps or suicide harnesses. The reason this is necessary is for when your ski comes off it will not roll down the hill. There are many different lifts and the hardest is the tow. Others are the T bar, chair lift, poma lift, and in Europe the double chair and Gondola tramway. There are many ski tournaments held each year. Some at Silver Star (Vernon), Revelstoke, and our own Ski Bowl. The winter Olympics were held in Squaw Valley last year.

CARS ANNUAL MEETING

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society is looking forward to the day when it will go out of business. That day will come, said retiring president A. F. McAlpine, at the organization's annual meeting Monday night. When a cure for arthritis is found, in his annual report, he pointed to encouraging progress against the malady, but offered no miracle cure.

The Parks Board meets either this week or next, council was told, and the request would be studied then.

Trade Chamber's Budget For '61 Given Approval

Kelowna Chamber of Commerce has approved an estimated budget of $16,650 for 1961. An executive meeting of the chamber unanimously approved the proposed fiscal policy Tuesday. Virtually no debate preceded approval. The new figure is more than $500 higher than the actual 1960 expenditure. On paper, the estimated budget forecasts a deficit of $25 at the end of the year. Chamber president R. H. Wilson, told the executive, new memberships in the board are expected to offset any foreseeable shortage. During 1960 the then Board of Trade ran $250 ahead of a forecasted high of $15,285. However, expenditures were reported to have been met exactly at $15,513.36. A BREAKDOWN An item-by-item breakdown of the 1960 budget shows a total of $10,125 was collected in 1960. The previous estimate in 1960 was $10,125. This category (1960-1961) ran a deficit of $192 into the red. The B.C. government granted the Regatta Committee $200, accounted for another $900 and sundry revenue made up a total of $173. Chamber members expressed approval at the way budgeting had been handled. Some debate centred around self-cancelling sums and where they could be correctly placed in the budget. A change in city grants to the chamber was noted in the new figures. Last year the city granted a total of $3,300 of which $300 was in an additional grant. This year the grant has been raised to $4,000—$700 more than in 1960. Under expenditures, salaries and staff benefits, substituted beneath administration, rose slightly to $8,100. Office services moved from $942 actual in 1960 to $1,000 estimated this year. The previous estimate in 1960 was $1,000. This category (1960-1961) ran a deficit of $192 into the red. COMMUNICATION COST

Stationery, notices and postage climbed past the budgeted high in 1960 but was set this year somewhat lower than the 1960 peak. The same trend was noted in telephone and telegraph expenses and in the affiliations and dues listing. Sundry expenses were set $95 above last year's estimated high of $100. Actual expenses during 1960 shot sundries up to a high of $221. Taxes, though not included in the 1960 budget, cut $295 from revenue. This year $300 was laid aside for the purpose. The Tourist Bureau topped off the second largest single amount of revenue with a total of $3,632 actual in 1960. In 1961, $3,500 has been allocated to the bureau. Budgeted amounts for entertainment of guests remained firm at $900 and forecasted advertising and publicity expenses eased slightly from $250 in 1960 to $200 this year. During the past year $129 was actually spent for advertising and publicity. Contingencies, forecasted in 1960 at $100 remained the same while expenses for the Okanagan Cariboo Trail Association caravan luncheon, $76 spent last year, were not budgeted.

Shipping Lines Scored By U.K. Fruit Marketers

According to four visitors from the United Kingdom, shipping lines to U.K. from British Columbia do not supply the service they should. The four men, who have circled the globe in their travels touching down in New Zealand, Tasmania and Australia before coming to British Columbia, said that marketing of B.C. fruit in the U.K. was less than certain. J. Watson, H. Lewis, R. Brett and D. Ridley claimed that marketers of B.C. fruit in the United Kingdom never know when or how much fruit is coming because of the indefinite shipping schedules. This means that planned marketing is out, one of the men commented. Mr. Watson is the London manager of the New Zealand Apple and Pear Marketing Board, and the other three men are members of the selling panel. The group travelled to New Zealand to familiarize themselves with progress made in the fruit industry there in recent years, which they said was considerable. The four men were to be conducted on a tour of the Okanagan, and shown everything from experimental farms to farming methods in the orchards. They had seen a processing plant the evening of their arrival, and described it in lyrical terms. They said they had nothing like it "back home." Three of the men were English, and one was a New Zealander. They offered no comparisons of the fruit industry in the "down under" country to the Okanagan's "because they hadn't seen anything here yet." The fruit marketers all agreed that B.C. fruit was in top condition when it arrived in the U.K. and there was no problem there.

Should Schools Be Used For Propaganda Purposes?

The Chilliwack Progress recently commented upon an incident in that town which probably occurs frequently in most other towns throughout this province. The Chilliwack paper makes a point which, we think, is worth consideration in other towns. It said:

"Recently the paid promoter of a cause which would be considered to be 'good' by most Chilliwack parents was allowed into a Chilliwack school to propagandize, in school time, on behalf of his particular organization and cause."

"The fact that it would be considered a 'good' cause or that it is a cause which is largely determined in the home, rather than through outside agencies, is not the point."

"The point, it seems to us, is that school time should not be used for such a purpose and that such an effort should not be imposed on what amounts to a captive audience—the students.

"Is this what we send our children to school for? Is this the reason for expensive school plants and paid staffs?"

"We believe these encroachments on school time should be given the most careful scrutiny. The Chant commission has already indicated that the amount of time spent by students on school work should be increased, and that too much time is spent on 'frills' in the curriculum. What about time spent on things that aren't in the curriculum?"

"If students, of their own free will and in out of school hours, want to hear someone plead a particular cause—good, bad or indifferent—that is their business. But during school hours they should be spending their time on school matters."

Highway Hazard

You're a driver of quick wit and high intelligence—so you never get a ticket and you always avoid accidents.

But some of your friends are not so good. An important reason, studies indicate, is that they don't adjust their driving to suit the road.

Everybody knows excessive speed is dangerous, and most drivers are careful to avoid that hazard.

But many forget that "too slow" is also hazardous on superhighways.

Why? Modern roads and modern cars are designed to permit safe, comfortable driving at higher speeds than were common a generation ago. This is progress, and most motorists have adjusted to it. But some have not. The slow poke can confuse other drivers and cause accidents.

Result: More provinces are considering minimum speed limits for certain highways.

Don't speed, but don't poke. Adjust your driving to the road, and driving will be safer and more pleasant for everybody.

Congo Canadians' Health Stays Mostly Unaffected

By PETER BUCKLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LEOPOLDVILLE (CP)—What happens to a Canadian's health when he leaves home for a tropical country like the Congo?

"Surprisingly little, at least as far as the Canadian troops are concerned," says Maj. Robert Daigle of Edmundston, N.B., medical officer for No. 57 Canadian signal unit in the Congo.

"After the Canadian contingent arrived here last August, most of our efforts were directed towards preventive medicine."

"But since about Jan. 1, I find my reports on the medical situation have been concerned mainly with people who are sick despite our efforts."

Maj. Daigle, an athletic bachelor whose experience in Indo-China and here has made him one of the Canadian army's leading specialists in tropical diseases, described skin disease as the biggest single contributor to the morning "sick parade" at his office in the unit's headquarters building.

"This period now—from January through April—is the worst in the Congo because of the continuous rains and humidity. It's the worst for all types of diseases, but it particularly encourages skin fungus."

Among the ailments in that category suffered by the Canadians are athlete's foot, small white spots on the body, skin peeling and boils. Most are aggravated, if not caused, by the climate.

Dysentery and other intestinal ailments come next in frequency, followed by such respiratory diseases as influenza and colds.

One of the oddest cases since the Canadians arrived to set up a communications system for the United Nations is the one of a Canadian soldier who developed a skin disease known as "the lobster" because of its appearance.

The Canadian officers in Leopoldville decided in January to stage a seafood dinner. An officer visiting Luanda, the coastal capital of neighboring Portuguese Angola, arranged for a load of crawfish-type lobsters and shrimp.

The party was a success, but within the next few days six of the officers were hit by cramps. Everyone agreed the lobsters were somehow to blame since the consensus had been that they weren't up to the standard of the east coast Canadian variety.

LOBSTERS INNOCENT

"But the lobsters weren't the cause," said Dr. Daigle. A septic tank near the officer's mess was found to be leaking and flies are believed to have spread gastro-intestinal disease.

Keeping the Canadians healthy is not a hit-and-miss affair. The 275 Canadian troops serving with the United Nations force in the Congo received nearly a dozen injections against the major tropical diseases before leaving Canada, and there are some "booster" shots given here.

In the Congo, the army medical team makes frequent tours of the compound with insect-killing sprays, the drinking water is constantly inspected and there is a continuous check of the kitchens and quarters.

"We've certainly gathered a lot of knowledge on the Congo in the short period we've been here," the medical officer said.

BELGIANS PRAISED

"And the medical work done by the people here before us—the Belgians—was of a very high standard. They left behind a system of hospitals, dispensaries and touring health units that has made the situation quite comfortable."

Those Canadians serving with United Nations units in six other centres outside Leopoldville also have a "very, very low rate of illness."

Dr. Daigle credits the Canadian liaison officers in charge of each of the detachments with helping to keep health standards high. Since each detachment is in a relatively large centre, all have hospital facilities and doctors within call.

In Leopoldville, within the Canadian headquarters in a former Belgian school, the seven-man medical team runs inspection and treatment rooms, a sick bay and medical and hygiene store-rooms.

Within a five-minute drive is a large, modern hospital built by the Belgians and operated now for the UN by an Indian medical team. The more serious of the Canadian injuries and ailments are treated there.

In only a few cases has it been necessary to return a Canadian home because of illness.

A GIANT STRIDE BACKWARD

Daily Prayer Is Routine Outside 10 Downing Street

By BORIS NISKEW
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—Day after day, year in and year out, a prayer for peace is offered in the shadow of 10 Downing Street, official residence of Britain's prime minister.

Every morning at approximately 9:40 Albert Roche walks up the street, faces east and kneels on the sidewalk opposite the black door marked No. 10. He recites the Rosary and rises just as Big Ben strikes 10.

"This has been going on for the last seven years," said constable. "Rain or shine, hail or sleet, he walks up to the same spot, kneels and prays."

The prayer has become part of Downing Street routine. Roche, 64, looks more like a Chelsea artist than a man of the church as he exchanges greetings with the bobbies on duty and waves to workmen renovating the prime minister's residence.

"If I had my way," says Roche, "I'd turn the aircraft carriers into ocean universities and send the youth around the world to learn about humanity instead of war."

LIVED IN INDIA

Peace will be achieved only by a "return to the Christian family life" and the example must be set by the head of the government, Roche says.

He tried to contest the 1950 general election as an Independent Christian Democratic candidate but his nomination papers were rejected by the returning officer and the matter is still in dispute.

Born in Limerick in the Republic of Ireland, Roche moved to India as a child with his family and spent much of his life in the army and as superintendent of the Calcutta Football Club.

He left India in 1947 and two years later "came back to the Roman Catholic Church." He joined a group known as the Fatima Rosary Crusaders started by a Jesuit priest to give student priests a chance to preach.

The group gathered each Sunday at the speakers' corner in Hyde Park and Roche took over when it was decided the outdoor services should be continued in winter by laymen. He has carried on the Hyde Park prayer service ever since.

An eloquent man with a tidy appearance, Roche, who attends morning and evening mass daily, admits that he had lost touch with the church during his more youthful days except for a rare religious experience in India in 1940.

While in hospital, Roche recalls, he saw two apparitions of St. Francis Xavier—one appeared at his bedside and the other the next day at the foot of the stairs.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

APATHETIC PARENTS

The Editor,
Daily Courier,
Kelowna.

Dear Sir:

On the all-important subject of the modern day school situation in our province, how little interest seems to be taken by parents of today.

Proper schooling for our young is the entire foundation of our whole Dominion. We only need to look around us any day and see how Canada is far behind in every phase of highly educated personnel. Practically everything big done in our country has to be done by imported experts. There is a full reason why this condition exists.

My schooling was done in the little one-room schoolhouse. Grades one to eight was done by one teacher, and it was truly done in the proper manner. If you passed a grade then you knew that grade and never forgot it.

I'm not advocating the return to the little brick schoolhouse, but I am advocating the work that went on inside that little building. I don't ever remember one instant where there was homework to be done. It just wasn't needed. Those teachers did their work where it counted most.

Today I have a child in grade eight. She comes home every day loaded down with homework. She is not much practical help to her mother around the house—learning the things she should learn to be able to feed a good future husband or learning to be a homemaker in general.

Why? Because she has hours of homework to do. To me the three R's in school are the all important, especially up to grade eight.

But is that what they try to teach now? Not by a long shot. Here are a few subjects for a girl in grade eight. Cooking or "domestic science" is one. My daughter is 14 years old and her whole cooking lore to date is a cookie or two.

Hopefully,
ALBERT APPEYARD,
Winfield.

OTTAWA REPORT

Apartheid Is Wise

By PATRICK NICHOLSON

There is widespread misunderstanding in Canada about the task facing the South African Government today. Yet it is the same as has faced every other colonial authority during this decade when "The Winds of Change" are blowing through Africa: namely, to help the Black Man achieve in one lifespan that immense development which occupied the White Man from the Stone Age to this Atomic Era.

For three centuries various European nations have created law and order in much of Africa. Now the African is demanding the same democratic self-government as he sees within the Western civilization.

The consequent transfer of authority is being achieved under conditions ranging from peace to bloody murder, in circumstances varying from orderliness to hatred.

BRITAIN'S FORESIGHT

Britain had gradually helped the natives in her colonies to bridge the gap between tribal superstition and western-style educated democracy. So in Ghana, and especially in Nigeria, independence came in peace and often in friendliness. Belgium, in stark contrast, had done much less to prepare the Congolese to govern themselves, with tragic results familiar to us all.

The greatest difficulties arising in areas where Whites have not been just a tiny minority of visiting bureaucrats and traders, but have settled in appreciable number and now want neither to vacate their family homesteads nor to submit to the vote of the African majority.

In Algeria this impasse has led to long warfare. In South Africa, it has generated less violence but even more worldwide controversy. In Rhodesia and Nyasaland, Prime Minister Sir Roy Welensky believes that Africans need more training before they will be ready to assume the responsibility of government. Meanwhile white settlers there fear Congo-style violence if universal suffrage and political power is withheld from the Africans.

South Africa is in many respects a unique case. One eighth the size of Canada, it is the home of 9,000,000 Bantu or Africans, 3,000,000 Europeans, adequately publicized abroad.

and 2,000,000 of Asian or mixed origin.

The land which was formed into the Dominion of South Africa just 50 years ago was originally sparsely inhabited by nomadic Hottentots, a small tribe which has now almost disappeared.

Three centuries ago, Europeans settled in the southern tip of the Continent. As their numbers expanded, they began pushing north and east into the empty lands. At about the same time, Bantu from many different tribes began pushing southwards from the poorer lands in equatorial Africa. Thus both Bantu and White are immigrants in South Africa. Each group settled on land which they themselves had chosen during their respective migrations.

BLACK STATES FORESEEN

The Bantu lands are reserved to them by tradition and law. The policy known as "apartheid" is very different from the hateful policy of "segregation" advocated in the Southern States of the U.S.A. It is best described by the phrase "separate parallel development."

Under this policy, the intention of the South African Government is to develop the Bantu, economically and educationally, to the point where they can be formed into six self-governing independent Bantu Provinces on their tribal homelands.

The White Government of South Africa is thus seeking to create and develop along parallel lines separate all-Bantu and all-White states in its territories.

These Bantu states would be developed from the bottom up, by the creation of forms of government comparable to our municipalities, our counties and our provinces. They would be known as "tribal authorities," headed by the chieftain-council, "regional authorities," and the largest of all would be "territorial authorities" taking the form of all-Bantu parliaments. The first has already been formed.

This plan recognizes the historical fact that the Bantu consist of distinct national units, living in separate areas, comparable to the nations of western Europe. It is a wise and generous plan—all that is wrong with it is that it has never been Africans, 3,000,000 Europeans, adequately publicized abroad.

MUSICALLY SPEAKING

By BETHEL STEELE

Those of the Kelowna Community Concerts Association membership who were wise enough to take advantage of the reciprocity afforded and attended the Nan Merriman recital in Vernon last Thursday night were well rewarded for their trouble.

It was an unforgettable experience. Each time I hear a superb artist I think that the ultimate has been reached and that I can never be so affected again. This time the artist took us into the realm of the mind and the spirit, rather than that of music as sound.

To quote Irving Kolodin's recent New York recital "Her pianist sound floated into space as a suitably dematerialized climax to the accumulated complex of emotion—an inward compression of thought and feeling made articulate by highly sensitized vocal means." (From the Saturday Review.)

Nan Merriman's mezzo soprano is not as wide in range as some others one could mention but she uses it to its fullest capacity for expression. She no longer thinks only of the mechanics of singing but gives us the purpose of each song. She has separated herself from the glamor of the opera star. Here is the artistry of the art song of which there is no greater.

Miss Merriman can communicate in any musical period and in any language. The Debussy Trio Chansons de Bilitis were exquisite impressionistic pictures.

tures in sound—unforgettable in their sensitivity; the Spanish group, breathtaking in their emotional passion. But it was in the British country songs that the voice took on a golden sheen.

A most unusual phenomenon because of the language difficulty. The Scots Think On Me had the poignancy and yearning that can only be expressed by the Scottish folk song. This one tore at the heart because of the memories it evoked.

Perhaps the most wonderful and deeply satisfying was "My Heart at Thy Sweet Voice" from Samson and Delilah. In this Mrs. Lindsey's accompaniment was ravishing. Indeed he was ravishing all evening and his solo piano group were lovely examples of the way the romantics Chopin, Brahms and Schumann should be played.

One little girl will never forget Miss Merriman's acceptance of her flower offering. This episode was a highlight of the evening.

The Vernon piano makes one green with envy. Both artists patted it lovingly and remarked on its beauty of tone. This is the instrument Glenn Gould uses when he plays in the west. I am sure all the Kelownites who heard Miss Merriman join me in saying thank you to the Vernon Concert Committee for the courtesy extended.

Overseas Servicemen Live Like Lords - Almost!

By DAVE MCINTOSH
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — One swash-buckling RCAF fighter pilot serving in Europe rented a castle because it was cheaper than a five-room house. He heated only one room but his prestige status was unmatched. Generally speaking, however, Canadian servicemen with their families overseas live much as they do at home with the possible exception that their vacations are more glamorous. In no time they can be in London, Paris, Rome, Madrid or Copenhagen.

When President Eisenhower ordered the number of dependents of American servicemen reduced, there was some uneasiness among Canadian servicemen that their government might consider a similar move. Since then, however, President Kennedy has rescinded the order.

There are nearly 25,000 dependents of Canadian servicemen living abroad. Dependents are not permitted to accompany Canadian troops to such places as The Congo, Middle East and Indochina. Nearly all are in and around bases of the RCAF, Germany and the infantry brigade group in Germany.

MORE EFFICIENT
The army and RCAF find that their overseas formations are more efficient when dependents go along. The reason, besides morale, is that it takes some time to settle into a new job and married servicemen not accompanied by their families are not expected to serve overseas more than a year. The tour of duty in the brigade and air division is three years with the possibility of extensions.

The number of dependents abroad is not unlimited, however. Servicemen with large families are not likely to be posted to Europe unless urgently required for a specific job.

And a serviceman not provided with government married quarters must find suitable accommodation for his family before they are allowed to join him. The accommodation must be approved by welfare officers on the spot.

There have been few recurrences of one case several years ago when an army corporal, his wife and several children arrived penniless in England.

Hay River, N.W.T. Bustling Community

HAY RIVER, N.W.T. (CP) — At the northern terminus of the Mackenzie Highway on the south shore of the Great Slave Lake is a bustling community of 1,500 which a dozen years ago was a remote and isolated village.

"Hay River is a good town and it's growing bigger and better every year," says 50-year-old pioneer — trader Bobbie Porritt. A veteran of 35 years in the north and a former member of the Northwest Territories council, Mr. Porritt is enthusiastic about the settlement's future.

Polaris Sub Test Dives

By RALPH DIGHTON
SAN DIEGO (AP) — "Dive! Dive!"

Somewhere in the vitals of a humpback monster called SSBN 600 a horn sounds and the deck drops away beneath your feet. A hundred, 200, 300, 400 feet and more you plunge in bare minutes.

Except for the slanting floor, you could be in a fast dropping elevator.

Your "elevator" is the Polaris submarine Theodore Roosevelt, commissioned last week as the fourth of the U.S. Navy's underwater missile launchers.

Cdr. Bill Sims took her down on a test dive Thursday for 25 reporters, first ever to take a cruise on a ballistic missile submarine.

He put on a "mild" demonstration of evasive action the 380-foot nuclear-powered submarine could take if attacked.

There was no sensation of depth inside the three-story hull. The only indication was a whirling dial in front of the helmsman who steers not with a wheel but with an airplane-type control stick.

SLOW PROCESS

Submerging was a slow process. It took two minutes to get down to 100 feet. There the ship, levelled off for a brief interval while a reading of 300 feet was cranked into its automatic controls.

The dive began at 10:16 a.m. The deck slanted like a deep chute and those who were not prepared had a hard time keeping their footing.

At 10:19 a.m. the dial read 300 feet. The landlubbers aboard began to relax.

Foolish people.

Suddenly the deck slanted again. Camera boxes slid. The depth dial spun to 600 feet and on beyond. Military secrecy prevents disclosure of any depth below 400 feet, but the dial spun quite a way below 400 feet.

The speed indicator spun past 20 knots to a figure which again is secret.

NO FAMILY ALLOWANCE

Opinions among servicemen vary on the financial aspects of service in Europe.

One school holds that the serviceman abroad is better off and the other that he isn't. But hardly anybody claims that he suffers financially because of overseas service.

Pay and allowances are generally the same in Canada and abroad except for the foreign service allowance.

But a big complaint is the Canadian legislation which prevents payment of family allowance to Canadians abroad.

This applies to servicemen as well as civilians.

This law affects mostly men with the largest families making the least pay.

For instance, a private with children who doesn't pay any income tax because he doesn't make enough loses the family allowance utterly.

An officer paying income tax also loses the allowance, of course, but is allowed the higher income tax deductions for children.

It is understood that the government is considering paying an allowance in lieu of family allowance.

What really makes all servicemen sore, however, is the widely held belief that they don't have to pay income tax. They pay taxes at the same rate as everybody else in Canada.

SOME OTHER BENEFITS

On the other hand, servicemen readily admit some fringe benefits such as cheap cigarettes and liquor. And many servicemen are finding it possible to do something they couldn't afford at home: Send their older children to excellent universities.

The aim of the government is that servicemen abroad should have available to them the same facilities they would have at home. It has built schools and provided Canadian teachers and Canadian curricula. It has built shopping centres where Canadian goods are sold.

Canadian servicemen are in- veterate travellers. Many of them have covered Europe on their leaves by the time they come home. And it is not unusual for a child to have a command of three or four languages.

Generally speaking, Canadian in the air force—at which service- men and their families ice police, non-commissioned officers and unit safety officers are not enough government safety experts.

AROUND TOWN

Mrs. David Allan, Hobson Road, was guest soloist last Friday evening at a banquet, sponsored by the Saint David's Society of the Okanagan Valley, which was held at the Anglican Hall in Penticton. Guests attended the banquet from all parts of the Valley and from as far as Williams Lake, and Mrs. Allan's solos on the harp were most enthusiastically received.

On Saturday afternoon Mrs. Allen again returned to Penticton to play at the Saint David's Day tea. She was accompanied there by Mrs. W. R. Coleman of Kelowna who presides at the urns. Mrs. Robert Eagles of Penticton was co-convenor for both parties.

Mrs. and Mrs. J. A. Trewitt have returned from a six weeks holiday enjoyed at Santa Monica and Laguna Beach, California.

Mrs. and Mrs. Arthur Jackson returned last weekend from a week's holiday at the Coast. While there they attended the capping ceremony at the Royal Columbia Hospital in New Westminster where their daughter Frances received her nurses cap.

Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Buck of West Vancouver arrived in Kelowna.

WESTBANK

WESTBANK — Westbank schools are celebrating Education Week with Open House at the various schools on Monday evening.

On Friday, March 10 at 8 p.m. the students of George Pringle High School are presenting an operetta entitled "Enchanted Isle."

The setting for this operetta is the Mediterranean island of Mallorca in the year 1836, and the story is fictitious. It is based on the fact that Chopin, in very poor health at the age of 28 years, actually did visit Mallorca in 1836 and did, while there, write some of his finest compositions. All music in the operetta is based on themes, many of which are familiar to us, from Chopin's pen.

The arrival of the ailing Chopin in the tiny village naturally has a great effect on the inhabitants, and particularly on the lives of the young hero and heroine, Ramon and Elena. Around these two events are built a delightful story in music.

Those taking leading parts are Chopin, Sam Vaughan; Ramon, Wayne Bartle; and Elena, Elizabeth Wilds.

The local Red Cross workers have just finished quilting their thirteenth quilt this season for the Red Cross. This is certainly very worthwhile work, as bedding is kept on hand at all times to help in cases of emergency. Only last summer, bedding was given to each member of a local family, who lost everything in a bush fire.

The March meeting of St. Margaret's WA was held on Friday, March 3, at the home of Mrs. J. Wilds.

A letter from the Diocesan President, with a copy of the proposed revision of the Constitution of the Diocesan Board of the WA, was read and will be studied at a later meeting, when, it is hoped a larger representation will be present.

Prayer Books are to be purchased for the confirmation candidates, and will be presented at the tea following the confirmation service on April 23. The tea is being arranged by the WA and all who can possibly be in attendance are welcome to meet the Right Reverend Robert W. Coleman, Lord Bishop of Kootenay.

St. Margaret's is to assist St. Stephen's WA at the Diocesan annual meeting, in April, by serving tea on the second day of the annual.

RED DEVILS STRONG FAVORITES FOR SECOND STRAIGHT VICTORY

VANCOUVER (CP) — Kamloops Red Devils are strong favorites to win their second straight British Columbia high school girls' basketball title this week when the annual 12-team tournament is staged here.

Red Devils, who defeated Mission in last year's final, have four returning first-string players. One of them, Diane Bond, was last year's high scorer with 72 points in six games.

Returning with Miss Bond are Jane Jongchaap, Ewena Kenward and Sue Mukhan. Kamloops easily won the Central Mainland championship this year.

AT BRIER PLAY

B.C. Makes It A Tough Fight

By DENNIS ORCHARD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

CALGARY (CP) — British Columbia has made difficult an otherwise easy first two days for undefeated Alberta and Saskatchewan at the Canadian curling championship.

Tony Folk and his White Rock, B.C., teammates suffered one-rock defeats at the hands of the Prairie rinks, the only real trouble they have had as each posted four wins without a loss early in the 11-draw round-robin competition.

Monday night Jack Keys of Avonlea, Sask., managed to bury two untouchable stones in the final end for his 10-9 win over Folk. Tuesday morning Hector Gervais of Edmonton counted a single coming home and B.C. again went down, this time 11-10.

Saskatchewan's Tuesday triumphs were by lopsided 13-6 and 20-6 scores over Newfoundland and Quebec. Gervais won his second match Tuesday 13-7 over Newfoundland.

For Folk, 40, curling as well as any skip in the championship matches, these two frustrating close ones probably have set him too far back to take the Canadian title.

MANITOBA CLOSE
Still within reach of Saskatchewan and Alberta, however, is Winnipeg's John-David Lyon, who has played four games with only one loss. Northern Ontario, with a bye in Tuesday's second round, has played three and won two.

Prince Edward Island is tied with British Columbia at two wins and two losses. Nova Scotia and Quebec have each played three and lost two and Newfoundland and New Brunswick have yet to win in four starts.

In other third-round matches Tuesday, Manitoba was trampled by Nova Scotia 15-7. Northern Ontario defeated Quebec 17-11 and Prince Edward Island found

New Brunswick an easy 13-6 mark.

The other fourth-round matches saw British Columbia edge Prince Edward Island 10-9, Nova Scotia defeat New Brunswick 11-9 and Manitoba trip Ontario 9-6.

Tuesday's attendance of 7,070 brought the two-day total at the Stampede Corral to 16,911. The record for the five-day event is 51,724, set in Regina in 1955.

In today's fifth round, at 3 p.m. MST, Alberta is matched with Quebec, Saskatchewan with Northern Ontario, British Columbia with Nova Scotia, Newfoundland with Prince Edward Island, and Ontario with New Brunswick. Manitoba has the bye. The curlers go back on the ice at 8 p.m.

GAMES STAY CLOSE

Folk continues his penchant for close games in the Tuesday noon tussle with Prince Edward Island. Dapper Doug Campbell of Charlottetown, at 27 taking his fourth crack at the Dominion title, watched Folk use his last rock for a perfect take-out to score two and wrest the 10-9 victory.

That made it the fourth consecutive game in which B.C. had either won or lost by a single rock.

Third Garnet Campbell and lead Glen Campbell are playing under Keys in this year's championship with the same deadly form that won them the 1955 title as an all-family combination. In their 20-6 victory over Quebec Tuesday, the Saskatchewan farmers three times scored four in the first six ends.

Gervais continued to dominate his matches. The towering Alberta skip started on the way to the 13-7 lacing of Newfoundland by breaking up the rinks' early struggle with a pretty double knockout to lay three in the fourth end.

The curlers took Tuesday night and this morning off for a banquet and rest. They play three gruelling rounds Thursday and two more Friday.

'REMARKABLE VICTORY'

Series Sparked With 6-4 Upset

By STEWART MacLEOD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

GENEVA (CP) — The fighting Czechs, upset winners over Russia, have suddenly brought the world hockey tournament to life and posed a major concern for the undefeated and heavily-favored Canadians.

The Czechs, originally tipped for fourth or fifth place, handed the Russians a 6-4 beating in Geneva Tuesday night on a pair of third-period goals by Vlastimil Bubnik and split the championships wide open.

While the Czechs were scoring their remarkable victory, Canada played its toughest game of the tournament against nearby Lausanne against winless East Germany, winning 5-2. A crackerjack East German goalie stopped the Canadians cold for two periods before they poured five goals past him in the first 13 minutes of the final period to keep their perfect win record intact.

Michel Lagace, with two, Jack MacLeod, Walt Peacock and Norm Lenardon scored the Canadian goals.

ONLY TWO UNBEATEN
Canada and Czechoslovakia now are the only unbeaten countries in the championship group. They are tied for the lead, each with eight points from four wins and no losses.

Sweden scored three goals in the third period to defeat Finland 6-4 Tuesday at Geneva to move into fourth place with four points. The Russians are third with six points. The United States and West Germany are tied for fifth place with three points each.

The curlers' first points of the tournament by playing a 4-4 tie at Lausanne.

The standing of the contenders:

W	L	T	F	P	P
Canada	4	0	0	27	8
Czech	4	0	0	22	8
Russia	3	1	0	13	6

Today, two games are scheduled in the championship bracket (times MST):
Geneva — Sweden vs. West Germany, 12:45 p.m.
Lausanne — United States vs. East Germany, 12:45 p.m.

A vital match will be between Canada's Trail Smoke Eaters and Czechoslovakia Thursday (12:45 p.m.).

ONLY TIE NEEDED
If the Canadians get by the Czechs, they need only a tie against Russia in the last game of the tournament Sunday to clinch the championship. The Canadians don't expect trouble from Finland Saturday.

The Canadians are not happy with the ice surface in Lausanne's big outdoor rink. They said it was the poorest playing surface they had experienced.

Right winger MacLeod, leading goal-getter in the tournament with six, predicted that Canada will have a tough time against the Czechs on the rink.

"We are far more worried about playing Czechoslovakia on this rink than taking on Russia on the Geneva rink," he said.

But playing coach Bobby

Kromm had his mind only on the meeting with the Czechs.

"Their victory is really inspiring for us," he said. "We really got to beat that team on Thursday, and they are going to be tough."

CZECHS JUBILANT
The jubilant Czechs felt the win over the powerful Russians was a testimonial to their late coach, Edward Farda, who died in the middle of training this year's squad.

Russian coach Arkadiy Chernyshev said the Czechs deserved the win. "We didn't expect to lose... maybe we had a bad day."

The Russians weren't skating as fast as in previous games, and the Czechs started pounding them hard from the start. It was the first time the Czechs had beaten the Russians in international competition.

Twice Jan Starsi scored on tremendous solo dashes in the first period to give the Czechs a 2-0 lead. The Russians tied the score twice, in the second and third periods, and led 3-2 for a minute in the middle session. The Czechs out-hot the Russians 31 to 30. Eleven minor penalties were called, the Czechs getting six of them.

Boris Maiorov of Russia picked up a goal and an assist to take over the individual scoring leadership from Canada's Dave Russell. Boris had two goals and six assists for eight points.

Russell was runnerup. He picked up an assist against East Germany and had a total of three goals and four assists for seven points. MacLeod's six goals placed him in the third spot with six points.

Klaus Hirsch, the East German goalie, easily was the star of the contest against the Canadians. He made 53 saves compared to 20 for Canada's Claude Cyr.

Lagace, who played a sparkling game at centre for the Smoke Eaters, said afterwards that the ice was too rough for score twice, in the second and good play.

Comet's Home Ice Lucky As Spokane Whips Seattle 3-1

SPOKANE (CP) — Spokane Comets scored their third straight home ice victory here Tuesday night, whipping Seattle 3-1 in a Western Hockey League game.

The result pulled the Comets, with three games in hand over Seattle, to within four points of the Totems in the race for fourth place in the league standings.

Bev Bell, Bill Folk and Del Topoll scored the Comet goals while Tommy McVie robbed Ronnie Gilles Boivert of a shut-out with a goal mid-way through the last period.

The game started off in bruising fashion with 15 hair-raising checks in the first three minutes. Referee Lloyd Gilmour called both team captains together and the teams settled down.

Bell pushed the Comets into the lead at 17:32 of the opening period on a three-way play with Max Meklik and Ching Johnson.

Defenceman Folk made it 2-0 mid-way through the second, taking a double relay from Meklik and Bell and sending a long golf shot past a surprised Bev Bentley in the Seattle goal.

Topoll combined with Tom Hodges and captain Colin Kilburn to close out the Spokane scoring at 14:29 of the second period.

McVie jumped on a loose puck at the doorstep of the Spokane goal to get the only Seattle marker at 10:00 of the third.

Bentley was forced to make 35 saves in the game, and Boivert 20.

Stamps Get 'Gift Goals'

VICTORIA (CP) — Victoria Cougars blew a two-goal lead by handing Calgary Stampede three gift goals in 1 1/2 minutes here Tuesday night.

The Stampede went on for a 7-3 Western Hockey League victory before 2,000 fans.

Ron Leonard scored two goals to lead Calgary, which stretched its league lead to four points over Portland Buckaroos.

Ed Van Impe, Jimmy Brown, Wally Hergeshimer, Don Wilson and Lou Jankowski scored the other Calgary markers, while Bernie Ross scored two and Bill Saunders one for Cougars.

The faltering Cougars lead Edmonton Flyers by only two points in the fight for the last playoff spot and now hold only one game in hand.

START STRONGLY
Cougars started off as if they would run away from Calgary. After Leopold got his first goal, Ross, Saunders, and Ross again beat Lucien Dechene to give Cougars a 3-1 lead. Then the trouble started.

But Van Impe fired a long, screened shot that went in off the skate of Cougar Jim Hay at 18:02 of the first period, and Leopold tied it up 14 seconds later on a scramble in front of the Cougar net.

At 19:35 Don McLeod of Cougars fanned on a puck, leaving Brown wide open in front on Marcel Pelletier. From then on it was all Calgary. Hergeshimer scored in the second period and Jankowski and Wilson in the third.

Last-period goals by defence-man Ron Morgan and forward, Merv Hidoski snapped a 5-5 tie and gave Vernon Canadians a 7-5 victory over Kelowna Pentiction combines in the second game of the Okanagan Senior Hockey League playoffs here Tuesday night.

The result gave Vernon a commanding 2-0 lead with the third game in the series in Vernon Friday night. The series winner meets the Western International Hockey League champions for the B.C. senior championship.

Forward Don Jakes paced the Canadians Tuesday with a pair of goals. Morgan, Hidoski, Sherry Blair, Walt Trentini and playing-coach Odie Lowe added singles.

For Kelowna, veteran Don Slater counted twice, and Bill Swarbrick, Russ Kowalchuk and Nick Bulach added singles. The combines played without the services of captain Mike Durban, suspended for three games by the British Columbia Amateur Hockey Association for showing a referee during a league semi-final contest last week.

It was 2-2 at the end of the first period, 3-3 after 40 minutes and the teams were deadlocked 5-5 until Morgan broke the game open at 13:21 of the third. Hidoski's clincher came in the final minute.

The combines showed every sign of running away from the Canadians in the opening half of the first period, taking a 2-0 lead on Slater's first goal and another by Swarbrick.

But before the period ended, Vernon had leveled the count on goals by Jakes and Trentini. Jakes put the Canadians ahead for the first time, scoring a goal 52 seconds into the second period. But Slater was back with his second at 17:24 of the period to make it 3-3 entering the final period.

Blair put Vernon ahead quickly again with a goal 15 seconds after the opening faceoff. Kowalchuk combined with Swarbrick and Brian Roche to make it 4-4. Lowe put Vernon ahead 5-4 at 4:21 with Bulach tying the score for the fourth time in the game at 6:24.

But combines couldn't keep pace with the Canadians and had no answers for the final two goals.

Shots on goal: Combines, 40; Vernon, 44.

Style Contrast Seen In WHL Coast Opener

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

A contrast of styles will be on view tonight when Calgary Stampede brings their offensive-minded club into Vancouver for the first of two crucial Western Hockey League games against the defensive-minded Vancouver Canucks.

Not only will the games decide whether the defending champion Canucks can catch the Stampede, but Calgary forwards Lou Jankowski and Ron Leopold will be out to pull closer to the single-season record of 53 goals set in 1940-50 by Doug Adam of Tacoma Rockets.

Both Stampede forwards have scored 45 goals and have 13 games left. With Seattle's Guy Fielder idle they also have a fine opportunity to move into first place in the individual scoring race.

Jankowski, who scored once and added two assists in Calgary's 7-3 walk over Victoria Cougars Tuesday night, is tied with Fielder for the lead, each with 85 points. Leopold is three points back after getting two goals and an assist against Victoria.

STAMPS' RECORD BETTER

The Stampede, who have whipped Vancouver in eight of ten meetings thus far this season, bring along the highest scoring club in the WHL—250 goals in 57 games. Vancouver is the second lowest scoring club with 175 goals in 58 games.

In Victoria Tuesday, Ed van Impe, Jimmy Brown, Wally Hergeshimer and Don Wilson added singles to the goals by Jankowski and Leopold. For Victoria, battling to stay ahead of Edmonton Flyers in the fight for sixth and last playoff spot, Bernie Ross scored twice and Bill Saunders once.

Meanwhile, in Spokane the hometown Comets whipped Seattle 3-1 to pull within four points of the fourth-place Totems. Spokane has three games in hand over Seattle, one of them tonight's fixture in Portland against the second-place Buckaroos.

Bev Bell, Bill Folk and Del Topoll scored for the Comets Tuesday, with Tom McVie getting the only Seattle goal mid-way through the last period.

Child's Pill Bad Habit

By BURTON H. FEEN, M.D.

Dear Doctor: Is it harmful both men and women. Humans to give a child two baby aspirins every night at bedtime, whether he's sick or not?

Mrs. R. D.: Dear Mrs. D.: Yes! The aspirin won't accumulate in his system, but the sleeping-pill habit will. Also, he may develop an allergy to aspirin which will prevent him from taking the medicine when he really needs it. Is this reason enough to stop?

There are others, too. Dear Doctor: What would cause uncontrollable lazy spells? I'm not a worry-wart and I don't feel depressed.

Mrs. W. D.: Dear Mrs. D.: Everyone worries and feels depressed at times. When you bury these feelings deep in your mind, they come out in all sorts of ways — sometimes as lazy spells. Ask your doctor about "happiness pills" that can pep you up while you talk about your troubles. Once you lighten your mind, you'll find new pep without pills!

Dear Doctor: My hair has always been healthy, but now I think I'm going bald! What can I do?

What should I do? Dear Mrs. J.: See your doctor! Tiny black moles can spread into big trouble. No wart-remover can replace your doctor when moles or tiny black roots begin to grow.

Dear Doctor: You write that hormone pills cure few changes-of-life symptoms. For years, hormones have smoothed my change of life.

Are't you wrong? Dear Mrs. W.: Any medicine that works is good and useful! Hormones slow down or stop hot flashes and the cold sweats that come with them. They also calm distress brought on by these flashes and sweats.

Still, millions of hormone pills are being gulped down daily for troubles unrelated to hormones or the change of life.

Opening lead—king of spades. The odds should be at least 2 to 1 in favor of making the hand before you undertake a grand slam contract.

For example, suppose you're sure you can make six hearts and are thinking of bidding seven in order to obtain the grand slam bonus of 1,500 points.

You stand to gain only 750 points by bidding and making seven because you already have in your pocket the small slam bonus of 750 points you would score by stopping at six.

Now what can you lose if you bid seven and go down one? You lose 500 points you could have scored for winning the rubber: the slam bonus of 750, the 180-point trick score for making six hearts, and the 100 points chalked up against you for going down one.

In other words, in trying to pick up an extra 750 points you are subjecting yourself to a loss of 1,500 points, roughly 2 to 1.

Presumably, North calculated these odds when he bid seven in the sequence shown. He used Blackwoods in an effort to get to a small slam and got the unusual response of six hearts (by-passing the five level).

As played by many Blackwood addicts, this showed that South had not only the two aces indicated by a response in hearts but also a void in some suit. It was not hard for North to deduce from the opponents' bidding and his own spade length that South had no spades. He therefore decided to go all the way.

His judgment was vindicated. Declarer ruffed the spade lead and drew two rounds of trumps. After cashing the ace of clubs, declarer was able to ruff three clubs in dummy. Since it turned out that the adverse clubs were divided 4-3, South's fifth club eventually became established and he made the grand slam.

It did take a little luck to make the hand, and maybe the odds in North's favor weren't quite up to snuff, but sometimes it pays to live dangerously.

VOTING PROBLEM
VANCOUVER (CP) — A suggestion has been made here that voters be deprived of their civic franchise for a year if they fail to vote two years in a row. A city council committee is studying the proposal.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

FOR TOMORROW

This day's stars warn against carelessness in business and financial matters. Write and legal matters also call for caution. In the P.M., influences are more pleasant and many of the day's problems should right themselves.

FOR THE BIRTHDAY

If tomorrow is your birthday, you have every reason to be optimistic during the next six months. Look for an upturn in business and financial matters during this period; also during November and mid-December. If you are single, new romance is in the offing, with the possibility of marriage, sudden or otherwise, in May or June.

In job matters which, in the case of Aquarians, are more often than not found in a row, creative field, you are currently in a fine cycle for capitalizing

FUR, FIN AND CAMPFIRE By Jack Sords

VISITORS FOR ELIZABETH TAYLOR

Actress Elizabeth Taylor, the London Clinic, was visited by her mother, Mrs. Frances Taylor, and her husband Eddie Fisher. The actress is critically ill from pneumonia complicated by anemia.

Elephants Numbered

KAMPALA, Uganda (Reuters) shooting darts loaded with powder. Elephants are wandering about the valley of the Semliki River, on the border of Uganda and the Congo. A. M. Harthorn, a lecturer in with large, white letters and veterinary physiology at Makerere College, Kampala, fires the darts from a gun powered by compressed carbon dioxide. After about 20 minutes, the letters have been put there by scientists studying animal migration habits and at the same time perfecting the rapidly-developing technique of in with paint and brush marking the animals S1, S2, S3 and so on—the S stands for Semliki—so that the animals' future movements can be plotted. Drug doses are varied so that the scientists can calculate just how much dope can knock out an animal for just how long. When the work is finished, the elephants recover completely within half an hour, although their temper sometimes gets the better of them and the research teams have to beat a hasty retreat.

SPORTS STARS SUPPORT EASTER SEALS

the request of nine year old George Kent Sullivan, "Timmy", the good-will ambassador for crippled children, to help open the 1961 Easter Seal Campaign. While purchasing the first sheets of Seals, from Timmy, the sports stars congratulated him for the fine job he has been doing for youngsters who, like himself, are handicapped. Today more than 450 Service Clubs, such as Kelowna's Lions Club will mail over three and a half million sheets of Easter Seals to Canadian homes. Donations to the campaign will give crippled children in every Canadian community hope for a happier future and the opportunity to become independent citizens.

How To Turn Child Into Delinquent

PECKHAM, England (CP) A parish magazine has published an easy-to-follow plan for parents wishing to turn a child into a juvenile delinquent. The plan, by Rev. P. M. Leach, vicar of St. Andrew's Church in this Surrey town, suggests: Begin at infancy to give the child everything he wants so that he will believe the world owes him a living. Never give him any spiritual training and avoid the use of the word wrong so that he will not develop a guilt complex. Pick up everything he leaves lying around so that he will get experience in throwing all responsibility on others. Give him all the spending money he wants so that he will not have to earn his own. Take his part against neighbors, teachers, policemen because they are all prejudiced against your child. The magazine then offers a final piece of advice to parents: "Prepare for a life of grief, you will be likely to have it."

Scrap Firm Buys Railway

BELFAST (Reuters) — The once-notorious West Clare railway, which first won its way to fame, and fame, in the latter part of the last century, never again will run on an Irish track. It almost certainly will be shipped abroad, probably to Africa or South America. The scrap firm concerned specializes in this type of end-of-the-line transfer. Even if the West Clare does end its days in a foreign land, Ireland is not likely to be left without a relic of this, its most romantic railway. The firm which is to remove it makes a practice of offering a "souvenir," such as a coach, a locomotive or a tender, to the transport museum in Belfast or Dublin. Why the railway has to go is the old, familiar story: The Irish Transport Authority says the 44-mile line from Ennis to Kiltush is uneconomical. Road transport has won again. The people of West Clare, however, are not giving it up without a fight. They have launched an opposition movement called S.O.N.G.—Save Our Narrow Gauge—though it looks as though they are fighting a losing battle. The West Clare never had a proud record. In the old days, the service was as poor as the countryside through which it ran—rather uncertainly. It was expected to—and did—stop anywhere. It had no real timetable and was as temperamental as a prima donna.
